

In editing this book, we, the members of the editorial staff, have not been prompted by quite the same motives as were the editors of the Rensselaer High School annuals. It is not published under the name "CHAOS," since it is not a High School annual but, exclusively a class publication.

We desire to have a permanent record of the illustrious class of 1913, A. D. Moreover, being of a magnanimous spirit, we feel under obligations to return to circulation the surplus funds resulting from our labors in the dramatic field. Hence this book, which we respectfully dedicate to the Seniors of 1913.
